PART B — U.S. Government Employee Certification

Authors who are U.S. Government employees are not required to sign Part A of the IEEE Copyright Form, but any co-authors outside the U.S. Government are required to sign Part A (see Joint Authorship [over]). Authors whose work was performed under a U.S. Government contract or grant, but who are not Government employees, are required to sign Part A of this form (see Item 4 under Part A below). Signing Part B will certify that all authors of the above work are employees of the U.S. Government and performed this work as part of their official duties and that the work is therefore not subject to U.S. copyright protection.

PART C — Crown Copyright

Authors who are employees of the British Government (or a British Commonwealth Government) and whose works are subject to Crown Copyright may sign Part C below. IEEE recognizes and will honor Crown Copyright as it does U.S. Copyright. It is understood that, in asserting Crown Copyright, IEEE in no way diminishes its rights as publisher. Sign only if all authors are subject to Crown Copyright. Signing Part C will certify that all authors of the above work are subject to Crown Copyright.

(Appropriate documentation and instructions regarding wording of Crown Copyright notice may be attached.)

Notes and Information for Authors and Their Employers

IEEE POLICY: In connection with its publishing activities, it is the formal policy of the IEEE to own the copyrights to all copyrightable material in its technical publications and to the individual contributions contained therein in order to protect the interests of the IEEE, its authors, and their employers, and, at the same time, to facilitate the appropriate re-use of this material by others. The IEEE distributes its technical publications throughout the world and does so by various means such as hard copy, microfiche, microfilm, and electronic media. It also abstracts and may translate its publications, and articles contained therein, for inclusion in various compendiums and similar publications, etc. When an article is submitted for publication to the IEEE, the IEEE understands that its acceptance of the article implies the IEEE has the rights to do all of the things it normally does with such and article.

IEEE Policy 6.17 – CLEARANCE OF PAPERS — applies to all material submitted to IEEE:

> "The IEEE must of necessity assume that material presented at its meetings or submitted to its publications is properly available for general dissemination to the audiences these activities are organized to serve. It is the responsibility of the authors, not the IEEE, to determine whether disclosure of their material requires the prior consent of other parties and, if so, to obtain it."

Furthermore, the IEEE must assume, if an author uses within his/her article previously published and/or copyrighted material, that the appropriate permission has been obtained for such use and that any required credit lines, copyright notices, etc. are duly noted.

IEEE OBLIGATIONS: In exercising its rights under copyright, the IEEE will make all reasonable efforts to act in the interests of the authors and employers as well as in its own interest. In handling third-party reprint/republication requests for an IEEE work, IEEE requires that:

1) The consent of the first-named author be sought as a condition in granting republication (of a full paper) to others.
2) The consent of the employer be obtained as a condition in granting permission to others to re-use all or portions of a paper for promotion or marketing purposes.

AUTHOR/EMPLOYER RIGHTS: If you are employed and you prepared your paper as a part of your job, the rights to your paper initially rest with your employer. In that case, when you sign the copyright transfer form, we assume you are authorized to do so by your employer and that your employer has consented to all the terms and conditions of this form. If not, it should be signed by someone so authorized. (See also IEEE Policy 6.17 above.)
